THE JUDGE APPROPRIATELY REMEMBERED BY THE BAR

Late Thursday afternoon as the hour approached for adjournment of U. S. court, at a time when the crowd usually dwindles, instead it was augmented. There was a mysterious congregating of attorneys and court officials.

So soon as there occurred an opportune pause in the proceedings Judge C. A. Galbraith arose, addressed the court, referred to the probability that statehood changes would make this Judge Dickerson's last session at Ada, and mentioned the cordial relations existing here between the bench and the bar, the uniform courteous and considerate treatment accorded members of the bar by the court. Then producing a handsome gold handled umbrella, Judge Galbraith said the local attorneys wished to present the Judge with a small token of their lasting esteem, "trusting that wherever his lines may be cast the umbrella might protect him from showers of disaster—from all storms that may come hereafter."

Judge Dickerson was visibly affected. For some moments he did not make response. Regaining his composure, he began by telling the story of his coming to the territory: how while living happily with his little family in his Kansas home, suddenly without his knowledge, through the influence of a congressman friend, the territory judgeship was placed subject to his acceptance; how scant at first was his information touching the Territory and its people; how, coming thus among strange people who had no voice in his selection, he had vowed—while clothed with power over their lives and liberties and property—to in all things hew to line his conscience and the most painstaking care would indicate.

"In following this resolution, gentlemen, I have done my best," said Judge Dickerson.

"During my residence in the Southern District," continued the Judge, "I have learned to love its people and to sympathize with their needs; if ever there were a people who were in crying need of statehood it is these. Every day the necessity is brought home to me, when I see on the witness stand pitiful evidence of how the children are growing up in this country in densest ignorance—all for want of a good public school system."

In conclusion Judge Dickerson congratulated the local bar on its strength, the good fellowship and the professional ethics prevailing among its members, and assured them that he would ever preserve and tenderly cherish the beautiful token of their regard for him.

The presentation over, there was a general handshaking and exchange of best wishes.

WEAVER'S MEMORIAL TOUCHING LAND MONOPOLY

The following is text of a memorial to congress offered by Delegate Carlton Weaver and adopted this week by the constitutional convention:

To the congress of the United States To the President Theodore Roosevelt.

Whereas the special senate committee on Indian affairs has recommended the removal of restrictions upon the alienation of surplus allotments and other lands in the Indian Territory, and

Whereas the material interest of all the people of Indian Territory as well as the state at large, depend upon broad and equitable distribution of the landed interest, and

Whereas, a great amount of said lands are at present controlled by land companies and speculators, under obnoxious lease system, and

Whereas unless prohibited by the congress, said land companies and speculators will gain control of a vast amount of Indian lands, which will result in large holdings and land monopolies.

Therefore, be it resolved, that we, the representatives of the people of the Indian Territory, in convention assembled, do respectfully pray that the sale of alienated lands be restricted so as to prohibit land or lease monopolies, and to permit any natural persons to become purchasers or lessees thereof, and then only of such limited amounts as will guarantee a broad and equitable distribution.

Resolved that a copy of this memorial be forwarded to both congress and the President of the United States.

INTRODUCES BILL TO REPEAL ENABLING ACT

Washington, Feb. 8.—Representative Murphy of Missouri yesterday introduced a bill to repeal the act admitting Oklahoma to statehood, on the ground that the constitutional convention of Oklahoma and Indian Territory had failed to comply with the conditions of the joint statehood act. The bill follows:

"Whereas, The constitutional convention of the proposed state of Oklahoma now in session at Guthrie, failed and refused after organization to adopt on behalf of the people of the said proposed state, the constitution of the United States by the act of congress and

Whereas, By such failure the said convention is unauthorized to form a constitution and state government for said proposed state; and

Whereas, Said constitutional convention is attempting to evade the act of congress by making a distinction in civil and political rights on account of race and color, and

Whereas, Said convention has squandered the people's money, appropriated by congress in unnecessary political bickerings, thereby leaving no fund to hold an election for the ratification or rejection of the proposed constitution; and

Whereas, The said convention has wholly disregarded and ignored the disbursing officer of the government as provided by congress; and

Whereas the said convention has demonstrated its unfitness and incapacity to frame a constitution for said proposed state; therefore be it resolved:

That the act entitled an act to enable the people of Oklahoma and of Indian Territory to form a state etc. approved June 16, 1906, be and the same is hereby repealed."

Agreeably Surprised.

Thursday night the ladies of the Eastern Star, Maccabee and Woodmen Circle to the number of twenty some met at the home of Dock and Mrs. Couch in North Ada and treated the newly married couple to a genuine kitchen shower. Dock said it was a regular down pour, and many of the articles they were sorely in need of—and some they were not.

After spending a pleasant hour with the young couple the guests departed for their homes wishing Mr. and Mrs. Couch the best stores in life and a long uninterrupted honeymoon.

CUT OUT SOLDIER BOYS FROM SUFFRAGE RIGHTS

Guthrie, Ok., Feb. 8.—That feature of the suffrage provision which gives the right of ballot to soldiers of the army and navy, citizens at the time of their enlistment, adopted Wednesday, was reconsidered by the Constitutional convention yesterday and stricken out, which firmly established a distinguishing line between the civil and military rights. In the debate frequent references were made to disturbances at polling places in the vicinity of Oklahoma military posts on election days, and the necessity of citizen guards to prevent soldiers from voting. Under the provision as adopted Wednesday it was asserted as possible for a discharged regiment of soldiers, re-enlisted in Oklahoma, to go to the polls and influence the result of election.

With the original provision before the convention it was stipulated there should be no discrimination against the state militia.

In the judicial system report residence in the Territory to comprise the state for those eligible to the district court bench was reduced from three to two years.

The convention refused to modify the requirement of legal knowledge and licence to practice law for those to be elected County Judges. Arkansas requires a man to be of good habits and possess a business education, and Kansas and Colorado say he shall be only a resident. A provision to make county Judges ex-officio County Commissioners was also defeated.

Mr. Cobb, delegate from Sapulpa yesterday presented a proposition from the people of that place to donate 160 acres of land for a state capital site, with free heat and water for fifty years. They also donate 100,000 for a capitol building.

Secretary Eilsyn has advices from Washington authorizing him to continue paying contingent expenses of the convention until the present appropriation is exhausted.

? WHY PAY RENT ?

Buy a Home of Your Own in the beautiful CAPITOL HILL ADDITION. We have recently purchased the seventy acres of the old Brevard school, and have platted it in acre lots with wide streets and alleys. This property is nicely situated, being within from 8 to 10 blocks of the center of the business portion of Ada. We expect to give you a chance to own a valuable lot in the capital of Pontotoc county by selling these lots on the installment plan.

Ada is now the county seat, and has a great future before it. We have three railroads with a prospect of two more, a cotton compress, a cotton oil mill, a pressed brick plant, and numerous smaller industries. Also have a large cement plant under construction that will employ 250 men, there is under construction a canning factory and the city is spending $40,000 on additional water works.

WHY SHOULD ADA NOT GROW?

CAPITOL HILL lies northeast of the business portion of the city, and has a fine view of the city. Plenty of good water at from 15 to 20 feet.

If you expect to grow up with the town now is the time to GET IN ON THE GROUND FLOOR.

OVERDRAFTS

It is becoming well known by business men that overdrafts, whether large or small, are not approved by the comptroller of the currency. The large central banks allow overdrafts only in a very small way, and this, it matters not how small, is not approved by the powers that be. This unbusinesslike habit of overdrafts grew out of advancing on moving products, such as cotton, grain and fat stock on the move. The overdraft system is wrong and the man who has account is always overdrawn is the man who spends more money than he makes and will finally have no bank account.

Impure Air.

Importance of ventilation and of a constant supply of fresh air in living rooms and wherever man abides, whether sleeping or waking, has often been mentioned in these columns. But air life is impossible, and, unless the air be moderately pure, it cannot be maintained, although astonishing, and a proof of the wonderful adaptation of living beings to their environment, to note how an amount of impure air can be breathed with seeming impunity. There are two forms of impurity in the atmosphere and solid. The gases, those coming from the exhalations from lungs, and in city houses from the stoves, are unnoted leaks from the gas pipes and from defective plumbing, are most injurious. For the removal of these, says New York Weekly, free ventilation from open windows and fireplaces is most efficacious, but of little service in the removal of other kind of impurity; that is to the solid particles of matter—which are always floating in the air of houses as well as in that of the streets. A beam of sunlight entering through a half-closed shutter makes plain this dust, and as one looks with closed eyes on the beam, which is up the floating particles, the clearer grows that the lungs are not so solid by this stream of dust inhaled with every breath. Fortunately, the nose and the moist lining of the trachea are designed to filter the air, arresting these particles before they can enter the delicate airways of the lungs. They do their work well, but not perfectly, and the matter the amount of dust the more they fail in their functions.

Struggle Between Success and Failure.

Forces that play upon business too vast and complicated for any mortal to grasp. No doubt there is wisdom in them, but its are sweeps far beyond merely human ken. When a W. Gates says that all he asks to be right in 51 cases out of a hundred, he indicates the common experience. To succeed in business, says Will Payne in Everybody's, is not the least to know what to-morrow's conditions are going to be. If it were, there would be no successes, for no man can do that. It is to see the condition as it actually arises and to live with it courageously. Sometimes one can't move fast enough. Your progress is caught in the frog. Then the incident of failure occurs. In the case of a good business man that means simply that this particular one of the many odd times when he was wrong opened to be especially important. The actual business ability may be truly superior to that of a host of men who never failed.

In the House of Commons.

There are five different forms of address used by members in speaking or referring to other members. A member in minister is an "honorable member;" a privy councillor is "the right honorable member;" a naval or military man is gallant as well as honorable; a lawyer is "learned and honorable;" and the younger son of a peer, or bears a courtesy title but is a commoner, is "the noble lord." It is a form not to use the precise mode of address, which is frequently embarrassing for the new member. A. Maule Low tells in Appleton's of a former leader of the house, popularly supposed to have been the original of Gilbert's "Ruler of the Queen's Navee," H. Smith, who made a fortune selling books and newspapers and was a very simple and delightful old gentleman, who was once addressed as "the right honorable and learned." "Oh, no," he learnedly interrupted.

The Poor Rich Boy.

Instead of sympathy for the chanceless poor boy, we should rather pity the rich boy. What opportunity has he to become more than an ornament to a mere owner? As Riley makes the old Hoosier say: "What's more pathetic than just a-begging rich?" It is of sheer humanity something ought to be done for the boy whose father has money. Genius is not confined to poor and humble birth, says a New York Globe. It should be possible for the chap whose mother bore a diamond sunburst really to be in the world. The cottage and the plain have become too arrogant—brown-stone fronts also have their rights. Fie on a civilization that opens the door of opportunity only to the fortunate poor!

The convict cobbler Voigt, whose exploit as a counterfeit captain at Copenhagen set the world laughing, was sentenced to four years' imprisonment on his escape. At the trial the courtroom was crowded with distinguished officials, army officers, jurists and fashionable women. Voigt conducted his own case with self-possession and skill. He declared that his life on the town treasury was primarily for the purpose of securing a passport with which he could leave Germany.

Very often the "butter won't come," and it is necessary to churn and churn until the arms are weary and the back aches. Then some one says the cow is hard, and all the blame is laid on that useful creature. Did you ever consider that it might be in the feeding? Do you know, that cottonseed meal and hulls tend to produce hard fat, and the hard fat is the hardest to produce in the churn? Why does the northern dairyman feed roots and ensilage? Because succulent food facilitates churning. The cream from a cow given roots along with other food can be beaten into butter with a spoon. Place a pint of it in a half-gallon jar, shake it five minutes and the butter comes.

Then cream will not churn easily if the temperature is below 60 degrees. Never have the churn over half full, and never, no never, add hot water to raise the temperature, for it will ruin the quality of the butter. The temperature of the cream should be regulated by placing the cream vessel in water. Sudden changes in the temperature of cream should be avoided. Butter can be churned from any cream by raising the temperature. But try to avoid too high a temperature, as it leaves too much butter fat in the buttermilk.

A few trials should determine the best churning temperature under one's own conditions. See that the cream is well ripened, and carefully note the temperature after it is in the churn; if the butter does not come in 20 minutes, draw off a portion and raise the temperature a little as described above. Use a temperature of two degrees higher. Continue raising the churning temperature one or two degrees until the proper results are obtained.

There are a great number of things that tend to retard churning, but they are unusual, and when present respond to the above treatment.

THE VALUE OF CROPS.

Corn Led in 1906, the Crop Being Worth $1,100,000,000.

Corn remains by far the most valuable crop, says Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, estimated at $1,100,000,000. Next comes the cotton crop, which, including seed, should be worth to the growers nearly $640,000,000. The value of hay, which is third in order, approaches $600,000,000. Wheat, the fourth crop, may be worth $450,000,000; oats, $300,000,000; potatoes, $150,000,000. Barley, with a value of $65,000,000, shows a gain of 21 per cent in production in the past seven years. The tobacco crop will be worth about $55,000,000. A remarkable development is that of the sugar beet, now the ninth crop in value, valued at $34,000,000. Seven years ago the value of this crop was $7,000,000. The value of all kinds of sugar, syrup and molasses aggregates $75,000,000.

On the whole, crop values have been neither notably high nor low in comparison with recent years, but the high price level in the general average has raised the total crop value somewhat as compared with 1905 and the high preceding years. To reach a still higher point in this series of high annual values is an achievement worthy of attention.

The Problem of Population.

The ruinous system of farming which has been practiced in this country almost universally heretofore, was recently sharply criticised by James J. Hill, whose fame as a builder and manager of great railroads is world-wide. He declared that this country's foremost need is more intelligent farming, and that we must learn to cultivate the soil in such a manner that, instead of its product shrinking, it shall increase; that we must teach our children scientific cultivation to increase the yield to meet the requirements of the tremendous increase in population. After asserting his belief that the population of the United States is likely to be 130,000,000 in 20 years and more than 200,000,000 in less than 50 years, he asks: "Where are these people not in some distant age, but of this very generation now growing to manhood, to be employed and how supported?"

The Honest Boy and the Farmer.

A boy was standing beside a stall where a farmer was selling cherries one day when he saw a coin lying on the ground and honestly picked it up and gave it to the farmer.

"Thank you," said the farmer.

"If you are always like this you will get on well. Here, take a handful of cherries."

"No, thank you," said the boy.

"Why not?" said the farmer.

"I would rather you would give them to me," said the boy.

The farmer gave the boy a handful himself.

How to Prepare for Alfalfa.

Apply stable or lot manure, plow the land deeply, taking small cuts so as to pulverize thoroughly, apply lime and harrow immediately. Allow the soil to settle and become firm, and when sown the alfalfa will have a better start. If much of the preparatory work is done during the winter months so much the better.

The dark tobacco men have forced higher prices, despite the efforts of the worst trust the agricultural men have ever encountered.

Lady Isabel and the Society Paper

By Mrs. Neish

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

"I detest visiting people," said Lady Isabel crossly.

"Do you?" I asked, "but why? I should have thought you considered it rather fun—it's very economical."

"Economical!" she echoed; "it's far more expensive than staying at home, what with the clothes one wears out and the tips one has to give, to say nothing of mental wear and tear."

"True," I murmured; "but one sometimes has mental wear and tear at home."

"I can't bear staying away," she continued. "If your hostess entertains you it's a horrid bore, and even worse if she does nothing to amuse you. It's no pleasure, unless you go to meet some especial man, and I don't care particularly about anyone excepting Vernon and myself—and you, of course, my dearest," she added, by way of afterthought.

"With whom are you going to stay, Isabel?"

She made a grimace.

"Lady Massingham. Isn't it a nuisance; but I am only going to stay for a day or so, before we go abroad—you see, Vernon wants me to go so much."

"How very unselfish you always are."

"Yes," she replied deprecatingly. "I was always weak; but then, Lord Massingham is a co-director of Vernon's—at least, he is going to make Vernon a co-director of his—so I've got to go and be nice to him."

"Poor you!" I said sympathetically; "and how long need you stay?"

"About three days," she said sighing; "and I don't care a bit for the river, and I hate the insects and the crowd. Their steam launch is so small, too, and you see such a fearful lot of the people you don't like on a steam launch."

"He Sent Me This," She Said, Simply.

"Haven't they a houseboat?"

"Yes, but that's much worse. I can't bear houseboats—I don't even like meeting people who have been on them, because I always think they've never really had a bath."

"You seem in a discontented mood to-day, Isabel."

"I am," she replied, "and it's horrid of me, but I only show it to you, dear, or to Elise. I never show it to Vernon, because, you see, he's tied to me for life. I always feel a friend can drop you and a maid can leave you if you're tiresome; but a husband is in such a helpless position, isn't he?"

"Which is true matrimonial wisdom," I murmured.

I have had two letters from Lady Isabel since she went away. In one of them she wrote:

"It's not half so bad as I thought it would be. I sit on the lawn after luncheon watching the people and drinking coffee, and the most heaven-born benediction—facing the river, and the others go on in the launch and things. Their complexions are being ruined, but they don't seem to mind a little bit. Such fun Margie; Lord Massingham spends the whole day with that pretty Miss Elvaston—and Lady Massingham is simply furious. Both the Everard-Bartons are there, and he is such a good-looking man. Wasn't it nice of him to marry her? They had to wait a fearful time because Roman Catholics are so against divorces. She is not half as pretty as she was since she has had that operation for her complexion. It's a most wonderful process, and cost her 250 pounds—but I will tell you all about it on my return. Yours ever affectionately, dearest, Isabel."

"P. S.—I sat next to such a nice man at dinner last night, a Mr. Heinrich Malcomstein. Isn't it a funny name? He told me he had nine children (and he seemed so pleased), three girls and six boys. Fancy, six little embryo Malcomsteins to give parties at the Carlton, etc.; but they are not grown up yet, and I daresay they'll have dropped the 'stein' by then."

Lady Isabel came back to town for a flying visit before going to Homburg. She was full of stories about Lady Massingham's house party, and her account was very entertaining.

"Are you sure you are not romancing?" I said to her at length, beginning to doubt a little, "because—"

"Romancing?" she interrupted.

"Yes," I said sweetly; "it sounds impossible I admit, but, you see, I have read all the stories you have just told me, even the one about Lord Ratlington in this week's—you know the little violet paper called, Gossip and Stings."

"Did you really?"

I nodded. "Yes, and told almost in your very words. You didn't try to read it up in the train?"

"Well, as a matter of fact, I did buy a copy," said Lady Isabel innocently, "but the stories are perfectly true all the same, even the one about Mr. Blount, that fearfully new man who made a fortune over baby food or blacking or something, and hasn't an 'h' to his name."

"What story was that?"

"We went over to his place to a luncheon party," answered Lady Isabel, "and he was in an awful flurry—no end of a fuss, and all the flunkies dressed in a sort of imitation 'Windsor uniform,' and during luncheon he said to Lord Massingham, 'Won't you 'ave some cold 'am my lord?' and Lord Massingham said he thought he would like a little cold ham. So Mr. Blount peremptorily called a flunkey in, and said in that funny tone those sort of people always use when speaking to their servants, 'Get 'is lordship some 'am, and look sharp.' The flunkey was apparently a little flurried, too, and put the ham down in front of Mr. Blount's partner, a man called Ephraim Banks, who, I suppose, after all, had a sort of right to be there, and even to eat the ham."

"You can't think what a fury Mr. Blount was in at the mistake. He turned to the flunkey and said in a low voice that we could all hear quite easily, 'Ere, you fool, fetch that 'am back, and give it to 'is lordship. Can't you tell the difference between a peasant and a peer?' Poor Mr. Banks," added Lady Isabel, "he didn't at all like being called a peasant, and I expect they had a row about it afterwards."

I laughed. "What an awful bouncer Mr. Blount must be," I began, "and I really think Lord Massingham—"

—but at this moment Lady Massingham herself was suddenly announced. Isabel rose as she came in, and with an infinitely careless gesture dropped a cushion over my copy of Gossip and Stings, and went forward to greet her guest.

"My dear Isabel," said Lady Massingham, whose face looked very red and hot, "I am so fearfully annoyed that I was obliged to come straight on and see you. No, don't go, Marjorie," she added to me; "it's nothing you may not hear as well."

Lady Isabel made way for Lady Massingham on the sofa, and leant herself gracefully against the tell-tale cushion.

"How sweet of you, dear, to come to me—do let me help you—What is it; nothing wrong at home, I hope?" she murmured. "Is it anything I can help about? I thought you were up in Scotland."

"No, I am going to-morrow. The fact is I am very upset," said Lady Massingham, and she began to fan herself violently. "You will hardly believe it, Isabel, but just now some one showed me a paper at the club—a horrid paper—called Gossip and Stings. It is sometimes quite amusing when it's about Mrs. Harrington-Brown, but to-day—you will hardly believe it, but they have actually published things about my house party. Even that story is in about Banks and Blount and the ham, and Henry says he wouldn't have had it in for all the world, because Mr. Blount is one of his best tenants. I was wondering if it was one of the maids people brought, and do you think I could possibly prosecute the editor?" she added, almost out of breath with rage.

Lady Isabel was full of sympathy. "I don't know whether you could or not," she answered gravely. "I'm afraid not. What did you say was the name of the paper?"

"Gossip and Stings," said Lady Massingham; "it's a small paper with a violet cover."

"What a funny name," laughed Lady Isabel. "Gossip and Stings. It sounds like us and Messrs. Banks and Blount; but, seriously, dearest, it is horrid for you, and I'm very, very sorry."

"I knew you would sympathize, darling," answered Lady Massingham, as she rose to go, "and I will send you round the paper—it's horribly put; but I'd rather you saw it now than have you come upon it at the club."

"Yes, do send it," said Lady Isabel; "I'm so—so sorry, dearest," and she added as she turned to me, "Marjorie, dear, will you kindly ring the bell?"

"I wonder why you put the paper away," I said, as Lady Isabel rang the bell again, this time for tea.

"Well, it's not a particularly good color to go with my gown," she answered lightly, "is it, Marjorie, dear?"

"No," I answered, "I suppose not; besides, it's such a horrid little paper."

"I can't have you abuse it, Marjorie," said Lady Isabel with twinkling eyes; "you really must not run it down."

"Why not?" I said hotly; "I think the editor must be simply horrid."

Lady Isabel crossed over to her desk, and taking from its envelope a deep pink check, passed it across for my inspection.

"He sent me this for all my little bits of gossip," she said simply, "and it paid for two new frocks and a lovely hat. And," she added, with a sudden adoption of her own special code of ethics, "I don't think it at all fair to take a check from an editor and then abuse him."

Be willing to fight on, though the whole world censure you. God and your conscience are the only two judges that dare condemn you.

WE LEAD IN EXPORTS.

UNITED STATES SURPASSES ALL OTHER NATIONS.

Products Valued at $1,700,000,000 Shipped to Europe and Other Countries During the Past Year.

Washington.—The United States is now the largest exporting nation in the world. Of the $1,700,000,000 of products sent from American ports during the year, $1,000,000,000 consisted of natural products and $700,000,000 of manufactured products.

In the latter classification the United States shows the most remarkable increase. According to the report of the bureau of statistics just issued this country now supplies 15 per cent. of the total of the value of all kinds of manufactures now entering the world's international commerce. The report states:

Ten years ago, in the fiscal year 1896, they amounted to but $258,000,000; in 1886, but $145,000,000, and in 1876 $105,000,000. The share which manufactures formed of the total exports was, in 1906, 42 per cent.; in 1896, but 30 per cent.; in 1886, but 22 per cent., and in 1876, 20 per cent. Thus the exports of manufactures in 1906 are three and one-half times as great as a decade ago, and the share which manufactures form of the total exports about one-third greater than at that time.

This is the first time that exports of manufactures have crossed or even approximated the $700,000,000 line. Even in the fiscal year 1906, which is only six months away, the total exports of manufactures were but $686,000,000; in 1905, $612,000,000; in 1904, $523,000,000; in 1903, $468,000,000; in 1902, $454,000,000; in 1901, $466,000,000; in 1900, $484,000,000; in 1899, $380,000,000, and in 1898, $325,000,000. Thus the exports of manufactures in the calendar year 1906 are practically twice as great in value as in the fiscal year 1898, having thus doubled in eight years.

Practically one-half of the manufactures exported from the United States goes to Europe, the great manufacturing section of the world. Of the $686,000,000 worth of manufactures exported in the fiscal year 1906 $138,000,000 worth went to Europe, $182,000,000 to North America, $79,000,000 to Asia, $64,000,000 to South America, $30,000,000 to Oceania, and $13,000,000 to Africa. Of the $318,000,000 worth of manufactures sent to Europe $73,000,000 was manufactures of copper $46,000,000 mineral oil, $44,000,000 manufactures of iron and steel, $32,000,000 manufactures of wood, $27,000,000 leather and manufactures thereof, $16,000,000 naval stores, $13,000,000 agricultural implements, and the remainder miscellaneous manufactures.

Of the $182,000,000 worth of manufactures sent to the various countries of North America $72,000,000 was iron and steel manufactures, $18,000,000 wood manufactures, $10,000,000 cotton goods, $8,000,000 leather and manufactures thereof, and $7,500,000 cars and carriages.

The United States now holds third rank among nations as an exporter of manufactures. The total exports of manufactures from the United Kingdom in the latest year for which statistics are available were $1,333,000,000; from Germany, $910,000,000; from the United States, $700,000,000; from France, $661,000,000; from the Netherlands, $347,000,000; from Austria-Hungary, $215,000,000; from Belgium, $204,000,000; from Italy, $200,000,000; from Switzerland, $141,000,000, and from Russia, $17,000,000.

It will thus be seen that in this grouping of the world's great exporters of manufactures the United States now stands third in the list, though it is proper to add that the figures for the United States are for the calendar year 1906, while those for practically all the other nations quoted are for the year 1905.

Manufactures form, however, a much larger percentage of the exports of the great manufacturing countries of Europe than they do of the exports of the United States. The share which manufactures form of the exports of the United Kingdom is 83 per cent.; Switzerland, 76 per cent.; France, 70 per cent.; Germany, 67 per cent.; Italy, 60 per cent., and of the United States, as above indicated, 43 per cent. in the calendar year just ended.

Long Ride To Collect Revenue Tax.

Corporal of Northwestern Mounted Police Crosses Arctic Wastes.

Winnipeg, Man.—In order that the government might not lose the few dollars it would receive from customs dues Corporal Seller of the northwestern mounted police made a 995-mile trip through Arctic wastes and successfully accomplished a journey which many an explorer would be proud of.

Seller was stationed at Fullerton, on the west coast of Hudson Bay. He heard from natives that the Scotch ship Ernest William had put in further north and intended to trade with the natives. He decided at once that it was his duty to see that the ship and captain paid the dues required by the government regulations.

Accompanied by interpreter Ford and an Eskimo guide Seller set out on his long trip, which occupied two months. Intensely cold weather was encountered and many blizzards, but the only casualty was the death of one dog of their team of ten.

For two days both men and dogs were short of rations and had they not opportunely fallen in with a party of natives would have been in desperate straits. For a part of the journey the food had to be eaten frozen and raw, as alcohol and wood gave out.

The courageous policeman kept a diary from which these extracts are taken:

"Very cold day. Had both feet frozen."

"Terrible snowstorm. Must find natives to get food, but cannot stir while storm lasts. Our dogs have had nothing for three days and cannot possibly spare them anything from our scanty store."

"Another bad storm. Sent Ford and Eskimo out to look for natives. They found some who told them that the place where the ship was is called Melachusectuck, 'the place where ghosts chase women.'"

At the end of two months the little party reached "the place where ghosts chase women," and received a hearty Scotch welcome from the captain of the ship, who paid his government dues and outfitted the corporal for his return journey.

Seller receives $1.50 a day.

Java's Valuable Teak Timber.

The chief wealth of the forests of Java, at the present time, consists in the wood of the teak tree, which is extensively employed for naval construction. The trees are ordinarily cut when they have attained the age of about 50 years and a height of between 60 and 70 feet. The species most esteemed has wood of a brown color possessing a greasy feeling to the touch. Since 1880 the teak has been cultivated, and the cutting of the trees has been regulated by the Dutch government. A peculiar feature of the cutting, designed to cause the wood to part slowly with its sap, consists in the girdling of the trunks a short distance above the ground two years before felling. The timber is exported to all parts of Europe.

MAYOR OF SUNBURY Says Pe-ru-na Is a Good Medicine.

Hon. C. C. Brooks, Mayor of Sunbury, Ohio, also Attorney for Farmers' Bank and Sunbury Building and Loan Co., writes:

"I have the utmost confidence in the virtue of Peru-na. It is a great medicine. I have used it and I have known many of my friends who have obtained beneficial results from its use. I cannot praise Peru-na too highly."

HON. C. C. BROOKS.

THERE are a host of petty ailments which are the direct result of the weather.

This is more true of the excessive heat of summer and the intense cold of winter, but is partly true of all seasons of the year.

Whether it be a cold or a cough, catarrh of the head or bowi complaint, whether the liver be affected or the kidneys, the cause is very liable to be the same.

The weather slightly deranges the mucous membranes of the organs and the result is some functional disease.

Peru-na has become a standby in thousands of homes for minor ailments of this sort.

Changes in Dismal Swamp.

Investigations of the scientists at Washington have recently developed the fact that at present the area of the Dismal swamp is slowly sinking, and Lake Drummond, in its center, is growing larger. Similar changes have occurred in the past, periods of elevation and subsidence gradually succeeding one another. The average elevation above sea level is so slight that natural drainage is insufficient to remove the rainfall.

THE COAT ON THE ARM.

Showing Importance of Making a "Front" in New York.

It is better to put on a stiff front and keep a stiff upper lip in this town than to have no front at all and bite your lip. It is not always the man who strolls down Broadway wearing a bland smile with a faded "mum on the lapel of his coat and with his overcoat carelessly swung across his arm who dines at Del's or who owns a seat on "change or who goes to Europe every year to buy pictures for his gallery. Sometimes a smile covers an empty stomach and an aching heart on the Great White Way. Through the midway of the great commercial artery between Herald Square and Longacre there stroll every day scores of men who carry their overcoats over one arm, regardless of temperature, simply because their "bennies" do not fit. The other day a portly chap who held a good place last season with a theatrical company strolled down Broadway. "Better slip on your coat," said a friend. "It's pretty cold, old man." "Oh, no, me boy," was the reply. "I'm not afraid of pneumonia. Besides," and his voice took on a confidential tone, "don't you see me boy, I've outgrown this coat by 40 pounds and could not get into it with a shoe horn. I can't afford a new one, but I don't like to have it thought that I don't own a coat, you know. My suit, you see, will stand scrutiny, so I wear a chest protector, and everybody thinks I'm so hardy. It's a great scheme." Then he swung off up Broadway, a picture of mystery.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

ALASKA'S GREAT FISH RIVER.

Nushagak the Basis of Important Canning Industry.

How many readers ever heard of the Nushagak river, asks the Youths Commission. Not many, it is safe to say. Yet the department of commerce and labor pronounces this river of western Alaska "one of the important fishing streams of the world." The fish which the Nushagak furnishes is salmon, the taking, canning, freezing and salting of which is an Alaskan industry, the importance of which is shown by a recent report issued by the department of commerce and labor. The first two canneries were built in 1878. Since then the number has increased until in 1902 there were 64 establishments, which put up more than 2,500,000 cases. Low prices since then have somewhat reduced both the number of canneries and the output; nevertheless, since canning began in Alaska, nearly 22,000,000 cases have been sent out. In order to provide some counterpoise to this tremendous drain the packers combined to start hatcheries. These have been carried on with important results and increasing success. In 1905 the United States bureau of fisheries took up the work, in addition to what had been done by the packers. There are now nine hatcheries, from which about 450,000,000 fry have been liberated.

Valuable Chairs.

The value of chairs is strictly relative. Enormous prices have been paid for chairs in recent years, notably the $100,000 for a set of half a dozen Louis XIV. chairs upholstered in Gobelin tapestry, originally made for Marie Antoinette. Even this price, however, was exceeded by sums paid for three of the Hamilton palace chairs, one of which brought $3,000. A most valuable and historical interesting suite of furniture is that which, more than a century ago, was presented by Warren Hastings to Tippoo Sahib, and which was purchased at the Lonsborough sale for $5,000. The suite consisted of a card table and sofa, two small cabinets and four armchairs, all of solid ivory most exquisitely carved. But probably the most costly chair in the world is one of the treasures of the shah of Persia. It is of solid gold, thickly encrusted with diamonds, rubies, pearls and sapphires. Its value is estimated to be $2,500,000.

Hit Back.

Walking along a road in the remote west of Ireland, two tourists were passing one of the cottages, or, as they are better known in the country, "cabins," of the peasantry. This particular "cabin" was even a more than usually dilapidated specimen of its class, and the chimney, consisting mainly of the remains of an old top hat, presented a comical, if pathetic, appearance.

Tipping his friend a wink, one of the tourists accosted a youth who was sitting contentedly on a fence.

"I say my boy," he said, "does that chimney draw well?"

"Shure, thin, it does," was the prompt reply; "it draws the notice o' iverey fool that passes by!"

Not the New England Variety.

"O! they're real swell people," said the Chicago man; "an old 'Mayflower family,' I believe."

"You mean their ancestors came over in the Mayflower?" asked the visitor from the East.

"O! no. I mean they made their money in 'Mayflower Hams,' oldest brand o' hams in this section."

Succeeded.

EFFECTIVE REMEDY

SIMPLE FORMULA WILL BREAK A COLD OVER NIGHT.

Prescribed by Well-Known Specialist in the Cure of Consumption—Can Be Prepared by Anyone.

Here is a simple and effective remedy for coughs and colds: Mix a half ounce of the Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) with two ounces of glycerine and a half pint of good whisky. Shake well and take in teaspoon doses every four hours.

This formula is said to be very effective, being the prescription of an eminent authority. It will break up a cold in 24 hours, and cure any cough that is curable.

The ingredients for this prescription can be found at any good drug store, but care should be taken that only the pure Virgin Oil of Pine should be used. This is put up only in half-ounce vials for dispensing, securely sealed in a round wooden case with engraved wrapper, having the name—Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), prepared only by Leach Chemical Co., Cincinnati, O.—plainly printed thereon.

The cheaper oils and those sold in bulk only create nausea and have no effect whatever upon the bronchial tubes.

PETS FOR LITTLE PARISIANS.

All Kinds of Animals as Playmates for the Children.

Children play a great role in French society, as all those who have read Gyp's inimitable "P'tit Bob" will readily admit, and now the small Parisienne insists on receiving on her fete day and at the New Year a live pet, instead of a costly doll or a mechanical toy. The demand has been creating a supply, and a lively trade is being done, not only in puppies and kittens, in tiny monkeys and in lambs, but also in tigers and leopards. Up to a certain age, these small felines are quite harmless, and, of course, as soon as they begin, so to speak, to show their teeth and sharpen their claws they are sent off to one of the two magnificent "Zoos" with which the Gay City is provided.

"I must give much praise to all the Cuticura Remedies. I used but one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment, as that was all that was required to cure my disease. I was very much troubled with eczema of the head, and a friend of mine told me to use the Cuticura Remedies, which I did, and am glad to say that they cured my eczema entirely. Since then we have always kept the soap on hand at all times. My sister was also cured of eczema of the head by using the Cuticura Remedies. Another sister has used Cuticura Resolvent and Pills and thinks they are a splendid tonic. I cannot say exactly how long I suffered, but I think about six months. Miss Edith Hammer, R. F. D. I am not asking your permission to close up and you can discharge me if you want to. But I will advise you now that I am the only man in the county who can read and write." Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

HEALTH AND SPIRITS

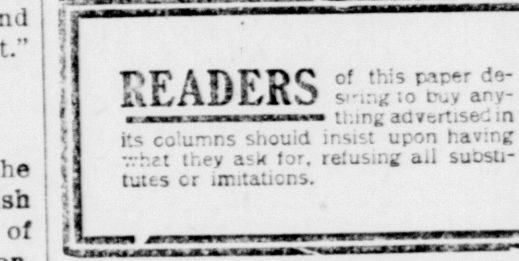

Are Restored by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in Cases of Debility and Despondency.

General debility is caused by mental or physical overwork with imperfect assimilation of nourishment, or by some acute disease from which the vital forces have been prostrated and the entire organism weakened so as not to easily rally. To restore health it is necessary that the blood should be purified and made new.

The case of Mrs. E. M. Spears, of 92 Mt. Pleasant street, Athol, Mass., is a common one and is given here in order that others may be benefited by her experience. She says: "I had been sick for a year from indigestion and general debility brought on by overwork and worry. I had tried many remedies, but found no relief. I suffered from swelling of the limbs, loss of appetite and dizzy spells, which became so severe towards night, that I sometimes fainted away. I was bilious and my hands and arms would go to sleep for an hour or two at a time. I was so sleepy all the time that I could hardly keep awake. I had frequent cramps in my limbs and severe pains at the base of my head and in my back. My blood was impoverished. I was afraid to give up and go to bed fearing that I would never get well."

"About this time Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended to me by a friend in South Vernon, Vt. I felt better soon after beginning the treatment and continued until I was entirely cured. I consider Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a grand medicine for weak women."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

At nine Friday morning U. S. court, so far as the public is concerned, adjourned, though legally it is open till 6 p. m. for the purpose of filing orders approved during the last hours.

The judge left at once for Chickasha. Five prisoners in custody of Deputy Cottle, were taken back to the Ardmore jail.

Yesterday notary public commissions were issued to Dorth Young and R. P. Ford. A decree of divorce was granted in case of Ida Stephens vs. Hershall Stephens.

It is possible another term of court may be held here under the old regime, in which case it is announced the term will be a big six weeks one about June 1st for cleaning up purposes.

THE JUDGE APPROPRIATELY REMEMBERED BY THE BAR

Late Thursday afternoon as the hour approached for adjournment of U. S. court, at a time when the crowd usually dwindles, instead it was augmented. There was a mysterious congregating of attorneys and court officials.

So soon as there occurred an opportune pause in the proceedings Judge C. A. Galbraith arose, addressed the court, referred to the probability that statehood changes would make this Judge Dickerson's last session at Ada, and mentioned the cordial relations existing here between the bench and the bar, the uniform courteous and considerate treatment accorded members of the bar by the court. Then producing a handsome gold handled umbrella, Judge Galbraith said the local attorneys wished to present the Judge with a small token of their lasting esteem, "trusting that wherever his lines may be cast the umbrella might protect him from showers of disaster—from all storms that may come hereafter."

Judge Dickerson was visibly affected. For some moments he did not make response. Regaining his composure, he began by telling the story of his coming to the territory; how while living happily with his little family in his Kansas home, suddenly without his knowledge, through the influence of a congressman friend, the territory judgeship was placed subject to his acceptance; how scant at first was his information touching the Territory and its people; how, coming thus among strange people who had no voice in his selection, he had vowed—while clothed with power over their lives and liberties and property—to in all things new to line his conscience and the most painstaking care would indicate.

"In following this resolution, gentlemen, I have done my best," said Judge Dickerson. "During my residence in the Southern District," continued the Judge, "I have learned to love its people and to sympathize with their needs; if ever there were a people who were in crying need of statehood it is these. Every day the necessity is brought home to me, when I see on the witness stand pitiful evidence of how the children are growing up in this country in densest ignorance—all for want of a good public school system."

In conclusion Judge Dickerson congratulated the local bar on its strength, the good fellowship and the professional ethics prevailing among its members, and assured them that he would ever preserve and tenderly cherish the beautiful token of their regard for him. The presentation over, there was a general handshaking and exchange of best wishes.

WEAVER'S MEMORIAL TOUCHING LAND MONOPOLY

The following is text of a memorial to congress offered by Delegate Carlton Weaver and adopted this week by the constitutional convention:

To the congress of the United States To the President Theodore Roosevelt. Whereas the special senate committee on Indian affairs has recommended the removal of restrictions upon the alienation of surplus allotments and other lands in the Indian Territory, and

Whereas the material interest of all the people of Indian Territory as well as the state at large, depend upon broad and equitable distribution of the landed interest, and

Whereas, a great amount of said lands are at present controlled by land companies and speculators, under obnoxious lease system, and

Whereas unless prohibited by the congress, said land companies and speculators will gain control of a vast amount of Indian lands, which will result in large holdings and land monopolies.

Therefore, be it resolved, that we, the representatives of the people of the Indian Territory, in convention assembled, do respectfully pray that the sale of alienated lands be restricted so as to prohibit land or lease monopolies, and to permit any natural persons to become purchasers or lessees thereof, and then only of such limited amounts as will guarantee a broad and equitable distribution.

Resolved that a copy of this memorial be forwarded to both congress and the President of the United States.

INTRODUCES BILL TO REPEAL ENABLING ACT

Washington, Feb. 8.—Representative Murphy of Missouri yesterday introduced a bill to repeal the act admitting Oklahoma to statehood, on the ground that the constitutional convention of Oklahoma and Indian Territory had failed to comply with the conditions of the joint statehood act. The bill follows:

"Whereas, The constitutional convention of the proposed state of Oklahoma now in session at Guthrie, failed and refused after organization to adopt on behalf of the people of the said proposed state, the constitution of the United States by the act of congress and,

Whereas, By such failure the said convention is unauthorized to form a constitution and state government for said proposed state; and,

Whereas, Said constitutional convention is attempting to evade the act of congress by making a distinction in civil and political rights on account of race and color, and,

Whereas, Said convention has squandered the people's money, appropriated by congress in unnecessary political bickerings, thereby leaving no fund to hold an election for the ratification or rejection of the proposed constitution; and,

Whereas, The said convention has wholly disregarded and ignored the disbursing officer of the government as provided by congress; and,

Whereas the said convention has demonstrated its unfitness and incapacity to frame a constitution for said proposed state; therefore be it resolved:

That the act entitled an act to enable the people of Oklahoma and of Indian Territory to form a state etc. approved June 16, 1906, be and the same is hereby repealed."

Agreeably Surprised.

Thursday night the ladies of the Eastern Star, Maccabee and Woodmen Circle to the number of twenty some met at the home of Dock and Mrs. Couch in North Ada and treated the newly married couple to a genuine kitchen shower. Dock said it was a regular down pour, and many of the articles they were sorely in need of—and some they were not.

After spending a pleasant hour with the young couple the guests departed for their homes wishing Mr. and Mrs. Couch the best stores in life and a long uninterrupted honeymoon.

CUT OUT SOLDIER BOYS FROM SUFFRAGE RIGHTS

Guthrie, Ok., Feb. 8.—That feature of the suffrage provision which gives the right of ballot to soldiers of the army and navy, citizens at the time of their enlistment, adopted Wednesday, was reconsidered by the Constitutional convention yesterday and stricken out, which firmly established a distinguishing line between the civil and military rights. In the debate frequent references were made to disturbances at polling places in the vicinity of Oklahoma military posts on election days, and the necessity of citizen guards to prevent soldiers from voting. Under the provision as adopted Wednesday it was asserted as possible for a discharged regiment of soldiers, re-enlisted in Oklahoma, to go to the polls and influence the result of election.

With the original provision before the convention it was stipulated there should be no discrimination against the state militia.

In the judicial system report residence in the Territory to comprise the state for those eligible to the district court bench was reduced from three to two years.

The convention refused to modify the requirement of legal knowledge and license to practice law for those to be elected County Judges. Arkansas requires a man to be of good habits and possess a business education, and Kansas and Colorado say he shall be only a resident. A provision to make county Judges ex-officio County Commissioners was also defeated.

Mr. Cobb, delegate from Sapulpa yesterday presented a proposition from the people of that place to donate 160 acres of land for a state capital site, with free heat and water for fifty years. They also donate 100,000 for a capital building.

Secretary Eilsyn has advices from Washington authorizing him to continue paying contingent expenses of the convention until the present appropriation is exhausted.

OVERDRAFTS

It is becoming well known by business men that overdrafts, whether large or small, are not approved by the comptroller of the currency. The large central banks allow overdrafts only in a very small way, and thus, it matters not how small, is not approved by the powers that be. This unbusinesslike habit of overdrafts grew out of advancing on moving products, such as cotton, grain and fat stock on the move. The overdraft system is wrong and the man who accounts is always overdrawn is the man who spends more money than he makes and will finally have no bank account.

MAYOR OF SUNBURY Says Peruna Is a Good Medicine.

Hon. C. C. Brooks, Mayor of Sunbury, Ohio, also Attorney for Farmers' Bank and Sunbury Building and Loan Co., writes:

"I have the utmost confidence in the virtue of Peruna. It is a great medicine. I have used it and I have known many of my friends who have obtained beneficial results from its use. I cannot praise Peruna too highly."

HON. C. C. BROOKS.

There are a host of petty ailments which are the direct result of the weather.

This is more true of the excessive heat of summer and the intense cold of winter, but is partly true of all seasons of the year.

Whether it be a cold or a cough, catarrh of the head or bowi complaint, whether the liver be affected or the kidneys, the cause is very liable to be the same.

The weather slightly deranges the mucous membranes of the organs and the result is some functional disease.

Peruna has become a standby in thousands of homes for minor ailments of this sort.

THE COAT ON THE ARM.

Showing Importance of Making a "Front" in New York.

It is better to put on a stiff front and keep a stiff upper lip in this town than to have no front at all and bite your lip. It is not always the man who strolls down Broadway wearing a bland smile with a faded "num" on the lapel of his coat and with his overcoat carelessly swung across his arm who dines at Del's or who owns a seat on "change" or who goes to Europe every year to buy pictures for his gallery. Sometimes a smile covers an empty stomach and an aching heart on the Great White Way. Through the midway of the great commercial artery between Herald Square and Longacre there stroll every day scores of men who carry their overcoats over one arm, regardless of temperature, simply because their "bonnies" do not fit. The other day a portly chap who held a good place last season with a theatrical company strolled down Broadway. "Better slip on your coat," said a friend. "It's pretty cold, old man." "Oh, no, me boy," was the reply. "I'm not afraid of pneumonia, besides," and his voice took on a confidential tone. "Don't you see me boy, I've outgrown this coat by 40 pounds and could not get into it with a shoe horn. I can't afford a new one, but I don't like to have it thought that I don't own a coat, you know. My suit, you see, will stand scrutiny, so I wear a chest protector, and everybody thinks I'm so handy. It's a great scheme." Then he swung off up Broadway a picture of mystery.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

ALASKA'S GREAT FISH RIVER.

Nushagak the Basis of Important Cannery Industry.

How many readers ever heard of the Nushagak river, asks the Youths Commission. Not many, it is safe to say. Yet the department of commerce and labor pronounces this river of western Alaska "one of the important fishing streams of the world." The fish which the Nushagak furnishes is salmon, the taking, canning, freezing and salting of which is an Alaskan industry, the importance of which is shown by a recent report issued by the department of commerce and labor. The first two canneries were built in 1878. Since then the number has increased until in 1902 there were 61 establishments which put up more than 2,500,000 cases. Low prices since then have somewhat reduced both the number of canneries and the output; nevertheless, since canning began in Alaska, nearly 22,000,000 cases have been sent out. In order to provide some counterpoise to this tremendous drain the packers combined to start hatcheries. These have been carried on with important results and increasing success. In 1905 the United States bureau of fisheries took up the work, in addition to what had been done by the packers. There are now nine hatcheries, from which about 450,000,000 fry have been liberated.

Valuable Chairs.

The value of chairs is strictly relative. Enormous prices have been paid for chairs in recent years, notably the $100,000 for a set of half a dozen Louis XIV. chairs upholstered in Gobelin tapestry, originally made for Marie Antoinette. Even this price, however, was exceeded by sums paid for three of the Hamilton palace chairs, one of which brought $5,000. A most valuable and historical interesting suite of furniture is that which, more than a century ago, was presented by Warren Hastings to Tippon Sahib, and which was purchased at the Londonborough sale for $5,000. The suite consisted of a card table and sofa, two small cabinets and four armchairs, all of solid ivory most exquisitely carved. But probably the most costly chair in the world is one of the treasures of the shah of Persia. It is of solid gold, thickly encrusted with diamonds, rubies, pearls and sapphires. Its value is estimated to be $2,500,000.

Hit Back.

Walking along a road in the remote west of Ireland, two tourists were passing one of the cottages, or, as they are better known in the country, "cabins," of the peasantry. This particular "cabin" was even a more than usually dilapidated specimen of its class, and the chimney, consisting mainly of the remains of an old top hat, presented a comical, if pathetic, appearance.

Tipping his friend a wink, one of the tourists accosted a youth who was sitting contentedly on a fence.

"I say my boy," he said, "does that chimney draw well?"

"Shure, thin, it does," was the prompt reply. "It draws the notice of iverly fool that passes by!"

Not the New England Variety.

"O! they're real swell people," said the Chicago man; "an old 'Mayflower' family, I believe."

"You mean their ancestors came over in the Mayflower?" asked the visitor from the East.

"O! no, I mean they made their money in 'Mayflower' flams," oldest brand o' hams in this section."

Succeeded.

Bacon—You say Gratton is a successful man?

Egbert—He certainly is.

Egbert—Because he's kept out of jail so far.

EFFECTIVE REMEDY

SIMPLE FORMULA WILL BREAK A COLD OVER NIGHT.

Prescribed by Well-Known Specialist in the Cure of Consumption—Can Be Prepared by Anyone.

Here is a simple and effective remedy for coughs and colds: Mix a half ounce of the Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) with two ounces of glycerine and a half pint of good whiskey. Shake well and take in teaspoon doses every four hours.

This formula is said to be very effective, being the prescription of an eminent authority. It will break up a cold in 24 hours, and cure any cough that is curable.

The ingredients for this prescription can be found at any good drug store, but care should be taken that only the pure Virgin Oil of Pine should be used. This is put up only in half-ounce vials for dispensing, securely sealed in a round wooden case with engraved wrapper, having the name—Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), prepared only by Leach Chemical Co., Cincinnati, O.—plainly printed thereon.

The cheaper oils and those sold in bulk only create nausea and have no effect whatever upon the bronchial tubes.

PETS FOR LITTLE PARISIANS.

All Kinds of Animals as Playmates for the Children.

Children play a great role in French society, as all those who have read Gyp's inimitable "Pitt Bob" will readily admit, and now the small Parisienne insists on receiving on her feet day and at the New Year a live pet, instead of a costly doll or a mechanical toy. The demand has been creating a supply, and a lively trade is being done, not only in puppies and kittens, in tiny monkeys and in lambs, but also in tigers and leopards. Up to a certain age, these small felines are quite harmless, and, of course, as soon as they begin, so to speak, to show their teeth and sharpen their claws they are sent off to one of the two magnificent "zoos" with which the Gay City is provided.

TWO SISTERS HAD ECZEMA.

Cuticura Cured Scalp Troubles of Two Illinois Girls—Another Sister Took Cuticura Pills.

"I must give much praise to all the Cuticura Remedies. I used but one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment, as that was all that was required to cure my disease. I was very much troubled with eczema of the head, and a friend of mine told me to use the Cuticura Remedies, which I did, and am glad to say that they cured my eczema entirely. Since then we have always kept the soap on hand at all times. My sister was also cured of eczema of the head by using the Cuticura Remedies. Another sister has used Cuticura Resolvent and Pills and thinks they are a splendid tonic. I cannot say exactly how long I suffered, but I think about six months. Miss Edith Hammer, R. F. D. No. 6, Morrison, Ill., Oct. 3, 1906."

To Explore Greenland Coast.

The duke of Orleans has announced to his friends at Copenhagen that he intends to start a new expedition next spring in the ship Helix to penetrate as far as possible along the northeast coast of Greenland. The purpose is to join the Danish expedition, under Mylius Eriksen, which left last June to explore the same coast.

The extraordinary popularity of fine white goods this summer makes the choice of Starch a matter of great importance. Defiance Starch, being free from all injurious chemicals, is the only one which is safe to use on fine fabrics. Its great strength as a stiffener makes half the usual quantity of Starch necessary, with the result of perfect finish, equal to that when the goods were new.

Sweep's Curious Find.

An Atherington (Eng.) sweep, named Joshua Folland, was sweeping the chimney of a house which had been unoccupied for some little time at High Beckington, when, to his great surprise, he swept down seven full-grown, live wild rabbits, which he bagged.

Try It Once.

There is more actual misery and less real danger in a case of itching, skin disease than any other ailment. Hunt's cure is manufactured especially for these cases. It relieves instantly and cures promptly. Absolutely guaranteed.

Some men seem to think they are doing a great deal toward righting the world's wrongs by fussing with their neighbors.

AWFUL ATTACKS OF PAIN.

A Most Dreadful Case of Kidney Trouble and How It Was Cured.

Thomas N. McCullough, 321 South Weber St., Colorado Springs, Colo., says: "For twelve or fifteen years I was suffering frequent attacks of pain in the back and kidneys that lasted for three weeks at a time. I would be unable to turn in bed. The urine was in a terrible condition, at times a complete stoppage occurring. I began with Doan's Kidney Pills, and soon felt better. Keeping on, I found complete freedom from kidney trouble. The cure has been permanent. I owe my good health to Doan's Kidney Pills."

Has Clinch on Position.

Various authorities have passed on a letter received at the post office department a short time ago and it has finally been sent to the postmaster general. The letter came from a western postmaster at a small office and read: "In accordance with the rules of the department, I write you to inform you that on next Saturday I will close the post office for one day, as I am going on a bear hunt. I am not asking your permission to close up and you can discharge me if you want to. But I will advise you now that I am the only man in the county who can read and write." It is not likely that the postmaster will be discharged.

Invigorate the Digestion.

To invigorate the digestion and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels there is nothing so good as that old family remedy, Brandereth Pills, which has been in use for over a century. They cleanse the blood and impart new vigor to the body. One or two every night for a week will usually be all that is required. For Constipation or Dyspepsia, one or two taken every night will afford great relief.

Brandereth's Pills are the same fine laxative tonic pill your grandparents used and being purely vegetable are adapted to every system.

Sold in every drug and medicine store, either plain or sugar-coated.

Marriage at a Discount.

All the conditions of modern life are such as to discourage men and women from marrying, and if they do so to make them discontented. Divorce has rushed from the extreme of being considered a disgrace which never should be mentioned to that of being regarded as a standard joke in the comic papers, a fit subject to be worked up in stage comedy and hilariously received by large audiences.—N. Y. Independent.

It Will Stay There.

"In my family medicine chest no remedy is permitted to remain unless it proves beyond a doubt the best to be obtained for its particular purpose. For treating all manner of skin troubles, such as Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, etc., Hunt's Cure has held its place for many years. I have failed to find a surer remedy. It cures itching instantly."

R. M. SWANN, Franklin, La.

Sweet Amelities.

"I hope you won't be disappointed, dear, for I know everybody thought George was paying attention to you. But as a matter of fact, he asked me last night to marry him."

"He has then carried out his threat, poor fellow!"

"What threat?"

"He declared to me the last time I refused him that he would take some desperate step."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a running ear, or the perfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, you have deafness. It is therefore of absolute importance that you should at once secure a remedy that will reach the mucous surface of the Eustachian Tube, and destroy the inflammation. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Little's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Revolt Against Trading Stamps.

"No more trading stamps," is the slogan of a campaign which English grocerymen are carrying on. One of them, whose shop is in East London, says: "There is not a small grocer in England who earns 15 per cent on his capital. Ten per cent is average profit and the cost of trading stamps leaves him only about 6 1/2 per cent."

NATURE PROVIDES FOR SICK WOMEN

a more potent remedy in the roots and herbs of the field than was ever produced from drugs.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers few drugs were used in medicines and Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., in her study of roots and herbs and their power over disease discovered and gave to the women of the world a remedy for their peculiar ills more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

is an honest, tried and true remedy of unquestionable therapeutic value. During its record of more than thirty years, its long list of actual cures of those serious ills peculiar to women, entitles Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to the respect and confidence of every fair minded person and every thinking woman.

When women are troubled with irregular or painful functions, weakness, displacements, ulceration or inflammation, backache, flatulency, general debility, indigestion or nervous prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

No other remedy in the country has such a record of cures of female ills, and thousands of women residing in every part of the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable compound and what it has done for them. She has guided thousands to health. For twenty-five years she has been advising sick women free of charge. She is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and as her assistant for years before her decease advised under her immediate direction. Address, Lynn, Mass.

HEALTH AND SPIRITS

Are Restored by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in Cases of Debility and Dependancy.

General debility is caused by mental or physical overwork with imperfect assimilation of nourishment, or by some acute disease from which the vital forces have been prostrated and the entire organism weakened so as not to easily rally. To restore health it is necessary that the blood should be purified and made new.

The case of Mrs. E. M. Spears, of 92 Mt. Pleasant street, Athol, Mass., is a common one and is given here in order that others may be benefited by her experience. She says: "I had been sick for a year from indigestion and general debility brought on by overwork and worry. I had tried many remedies, but found no relief. I suffered from swelling of the limbs, loss of appetite and dizzy spells, which became so severe towards night, that I sometimes fainted away. I was bilious and my hands and arms would go to sleep for an hour or two at a time. I was so sleepy all the time that I could hardly keep awake. I had frequent cramps in my limbs and severe pains at the base of my head and in my back. My blood was impoverished. I was afraid to give up and go to bed fearing that I would never get well."

"About this time Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended to me by a friend in South Vernon, Vt. I felt better soon after beginning the treatment and continued until I was entirely cured. I consider Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a grand medicine for weak women."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

THE JUDGE APPROPRIATELY REMEMBERED BY THE BAR

Late Thursday afternoon as the hour approached for adjournment of U. S. court, at a time when the crowd usually dwindles, instead it was augmented. There was a mysterious congregating of attorneys and court officials.

So soon as there occurred an opportune pause in the proceedings Judge C. A. Galbraith arose, addressed the court, referred to the probability that statehood changes would make this Judge Dickerson's last session at Ada, and mentioned the cordial relations existing here between the bench and the bar, the uniform courteous and considerate treatment accorded members of the bar by the court. Then producing a handsome gold handled umbrella, Judge Galbraith said the local attorneys wished to present the Judge with a small token of their lasting esteem, "trusting that wherever his lines may be cast the umbrella might protect him from showers of disaster—from all storms that may come hereafter."

Judge Dickerson was visibly affected. For some moments he did not make response. Regaining his composure, he began by telling the story of his coming to the territory: how while living happily with his little family in his Kansas home, suddenly without his knowledge, through the influence of a congressman friend, the territory judgeship was placed subject to his acceptance; how scant at first was his information touching the Territory and its people; how, coming thus among strange people who had no voice in his selection, he had vowed—while clothed with power over their lives and liberties and property—to in all things hew to line his conscience and the most painstaking care would indicate.

"In following this resolution, gentlemen, I have done my best," said Judge Dickerson. "During my residence in the Southern District," continued the Judge, "I have learned to love its people and to sympathize with their needs; if ever there were a people who were in crying need of statehood it is these. Every day the necessity is brought home to me, when I see on the witness stand pitiful evidence of how the children are growing up in this country in densest ignorance—all for want of a good public school system."

In conclusion Judge Dickerson congratulated the local bar on its strength, the good fellowship and the professional ethics prevailing among its members, and assured them that he would ever preserve and tenderly cherish the beautiful token of their regard for him. The presentation over, there was a general handshaking and exchange of best wishes.

WEAVER'S MEMORIAL TOUCHING LAND MONOPOLY

The following is text of a memorial to congress offered by Delegate Carlton Weaver and adopted this week by the constitutional convention:

To the congress of the United States To the President Theodore Roosevelt. Whereas the special senate committee on Indian affairs has recommended the removal of restrictions upon the alienation of surplus allotments and other lands in the Indian Territory, and

Whereas the material interest of all the people of Indian Territory as well as the state at large, depend upon broad and equitable distribution of the landed interest, and

Whereas, a great amount of said lands are at present controlled by land companies and speculators, under obnoxious lease system, and

Whereas unless prohibited by the congress, said land companies and speculators will gain control of a vast amount of Indian lands, which will result in large holdings and land monopolies.

Therefore, be it resolved, that we, the representatives of the people of the Indian Territory, in convention assembled, do respectfully pray that the sale of alienated lands be restricted so as to prohibit land or lease monopolies, and to permit any natural persons to become purchasers or lessees thereof, and then only of such limited amounts as will guarantee a broad and equitable distribution.

Resolved that a copy of this memorial be forwarded to both congress and the President of the United States.

CUT OUT SOLDIER BOYS FROM SUFFRAGE RIGHTS

Guthrie, Ok., Feb. 8.—That feature of the suffrage provision which gives the right of ballot to soldiers of the army and navy, citizens at the time of their enlistment, adopted Wednesday, was reconsidered by the Constitutional convention yesterday and stricken out, which firmly established a distinguishing line between the civil and military rights. In the debate frequent references were made to disturbances at polling places in the vicinity of Oklahoma military posts on election days, and the necessity of citizen guards to prevent soldiers from voting. Under the provision as adopted Wednesday it was asserted as possible for a discharged regiment of soldiers, re-enlisted in Oklahoma, to go to the polls and influence the result of election.

With the original provision before the convention it was stipulated there should be no discrimination against the state militia.

In the judicial system report residence in the Territory to comprise the state for those eligible to the district court bench was reduced from three to two years.

The convention refused to modify the requirement of legal knowledge and license to practice law for those to be elected County Judges. Arkansas requires a man to be of good habits and possess a business education, and Kansas and Colorado say he shall be only a resident. A provision to make county Judges ex-officio County Commissioners was also defeated.

Mr. Cobb, delegate from Sapulpa yesterday presented a proposition from the people of that place to donate 160 acres of land for a state capital site, with free heat and water for fifty years. They also donate 100,000 for a capital building.

Secretary Eilsyn has advised from Washington authorizing him to continue paying contingent expenses of the convention until the present appropriation is exhausted.

INTRODUCES BILL TO REPEAL ENABLING ACT

Washington, Feb. 8.—Representative Murphy of Missouri yesterday introduced a bill to repeal the act admitting Oklahoma to statehood, on the ground that the constitutional convention of Oklahoma and Indian Territory had failed to comply with the conditions of the joint statehood act. The bill follows:

"Whereas, The constitutional convention of the proposed state of Oklahoma now in session at Guthrie, failed and refused after organization to adopt on behalf of the people of the said proposed state, the constitution of the United States by the act of congress and

Whereas, By such failure the said convention is unauthorized to form a constitution and state government for said proposed state; and

Whereas, Said constitutional convention is attempting to evade the act of congress by making a distinction in civil and political rights on account of race and color, and

Whereas, Said convention has squandered the people's money, appropriated by congress in unnecessary political bickerings, thereby leaving no fund to hold an election for the ratification or rejection of the proposed constitution; and

Whereas, The said convention has wholly disregarded and ignored the disbursing officer of the government as provided by congress; and

Whereas the said convention has demonstrated its unfitness and incapacity to frame a constitution for said proposed state; therefore be it resolved:

That the act entitled an act to enable the people of Oklahoma and of Indian Territory to form a state etc. approved June 16, 1906, be and the same is hereby repealed."

Agreeably Surprised.

Thursday night the ladies of the Eastern Star, Maccabee and Woodmen Circle to the number of twenty some met at the home of Dock and Mrs. Couch in North Ada and treated the newly married couple to a genuine kitchen shower. Dock said it was a regular down pour, and many of the articles they were sorely in need of—and some they were not.

After spending a pleasant hour with the young couple the guests departed for their homes wishing Mr. and Mrs. Couch the best stores in life and a long uninterrupted honeymoon.

OVERDRAFTS

It is becoming well known by business men that overdrafts, whether large or small, are not approved by the comptroller of the currency. The large central banks of our overdrafts only in a very small way, and this, it matters not how small, is not approved by the powers that be. This undesirable habit of overdrafts grew out of advancing on moving products, such as cotton, grain and fat stock on the move. The overdraft system is wrong and the man who overdrafts is always overdrawn is the man who spends more money than he makes and will finally have no bank account.

MAYOR OF SUNBURY Says Peruna is a Good Medicine.

Hon. C. C. Brooks, Mayor of Sunbury, Ohio, also Attorney for Farmers' Bank and Sunbury Building and Loan Co., writes:

"I have the utmost confidence in the virtue of Peruna. It is a great medicine. I have used it and I have known many of my friends who have obtained beneficial results from its use. I cannot praise Peruna too highly."

HON. C. C. BROOKS.

THERE are a host of petty ailments which are the direct result of the weather.

This is more true of the excessive heat of summer and the intense cold of winter, but is partly true of all seasons of the year.

Whether it be a cold or a cough, catarrh of the head or bowi complaint, whether the liver be affected or the kidneys, the cause is very liable to be the same.

The weather slightly deranges the mucous membranes of the organs and the result is some functional disease.

Peruna has become a standby in thousands of homes for minor ailments of this sort.

Changes in Dismal Swamp.

Investigations of the scientists at Washington have recently developed the fact that at present the area of the Dismal swamp is slowly sinking, and Lake Drummond, in its center, is growing larger. Similar changes have occurred in the past, periods of elevation and subsidence gradually succeeding one another. The average elevation above sea level is so slight that natural drainage is insufficient to remove the rainfall.

THE COAT ON THE ARM.

Showing Importance of Making a "Front" in New York.

It is better to put on a stiff front and keep a stiff upper lip in this town than to have no front at all and bite your lip. It is not always the man who strolls down Broadway wearing a bland smile with a faded "num" on the lapel of his coat and with his overcoat carelessly swung across his arm who dines at Del's or who owns a seat on "change or who goes to Europe every year to buy pictures for his gallery. Sometimes a smile covers an empty stomach and an aching heart on the Great White Way. Through the midway of the great commercial artery between Herald Square and Longacre there stroll every day scores of men who carry their overcoats over one arm, regardless of temperature, simply because their "bennies" do not fit. The other day a portly chap who held a good place last season with a theatrical company strolled down Broadway. "Better slip on your coat," said a friend. "It's pretty cold, old man." "Oh, no, me boy," was the reply. "I'm not afraid of pneumonia. Besides," and his voice took on a confidential tone, "don't you see me boy, I've outgrown this coat by 40 pounds and could not get into it with a shoehorn. I can't afford a new one, but I don't like to have it thought that I don't own a coat, you know. My suit, you see, will stand scrutiny, so I wear a chest protector, and everybody thinks I'm so hardy. It's a great scheme." Then he swung off up Broadway a picture of mystery.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

ALASKA'S GREAT FISH RIVER.

Nushagak the Basis of Important Cannery Industry.

How many readers ever heard of the Nushagak river, asks the Youth's Companion. Not many. It is safe to say. Yet the department of commerce and labor pronounces this river of western Alaska "one of the important fishing streams of the world." The fish which the Nushagak furnishes is salmon, the taking, canning, freezing and salting of which is an Alaskan industry, the importance of which is shown by a recent report issued by the department of commerce and labor. The first two canneries were built in 1878. Since then the number has increased until in 1902 there were 61 establishments, which put up more than 2,500,000 cases. Low prices since then have somewhat reduced both the number of canneries and the output; nevertheless, since canning began in Alaska, nearly 22,000,000 cases have been sent out. In order to provide some counterpoise to this tremendous drain the packers combined to start hatcheries. These have been carried on with important results and increasing success. In 1905 the United States bureau of fisheries took up the work in addition to what had been done by the packers. There are now nine hatcheries, from which about 450,000,000 fry have been liberated.

Valuable Chairs.

The value of chairs is strictly relative. Enormous prices have been paid for chairs in recent years, notably the $100,000 for a set of half a dozen Louis XIV. chairs upholstered in Gobelin tapestry, originally made for Marie Antoinette. Even this price, however, was exceeded by sums paid for three of the Hamilton palace chairs, one of which brought $2,000. A most valuable and historical interesting suite of furniture is that which, more than a century ago, was presented by Warren Hastings to Tippon Sahib, and which was purchased at the Lordsbrough sale for $5,000. The suite consisted of a card table and sofa, two small cabinets and four armchairs, all of solid ivory most exquisitely carved. But probably the most costly chair in the world is one of the treasures of the Shah of Persia. It is of solid gold, thickly encrusted with diamonds, rubies, pearls and sapphires. Its value is estimated to be $2,500,000.

Hit Back.

Walking along a road in the remote west of Ireland, two tourists were passing one of the cottages, or, as they are better known in the country, "cabins," of the peasantry. This particular "cabin" was even a more than usually dilapidated specimen of its class, and the chimney, consisting mainly of the remains of an old top hat, presented a comical, if pathetic, appearance.

Tippling his friend a wink, one of the tourists accosted a youth who was sitting contentedly on a fence.

"I say my boy," he said, "does that chimney draw well?"

"Shure, thin, it does," was the prompt reply; "it draws the notice o' fiver every fool that passes by!"

Not the New England Variety.

"Oh they're real swell people," said the Chicago man; "an old 'Mayflower' family," I believe."

"You mean their ancestors came over in the Mayflower?" asked the visitor from the East.

"Oh no. I mean they made their money in 'Mayflower' flams," oldest brand o' hams in this section."

Succeeded.

EFFECTIVE REMEDY

SIMPLE FORMULA WILL BREAK A COLD OVER NIGHT.

Prescribed by Well-Known Specialist in the Cure of Consumption—Can Be Prepared by Anyone.

Here is a simple and effective remedy for coughs and colds: Mix a half ounce of the Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) with two ounces of glycerine and a half pint of good whisky. Shake well and take in teaspoon doses every four hours.

This formula is said to be very effective, being the prescription of an eminent authority. It will break up a cold in 24 hours, and cure any cough that is curable.

The ingredients for this prescription can be found at any good drug store, but care should be taken that only the pure Virgin Oil of Pine should be used. This is put up only in half-ounce vials for dispensing, securely sealed in a round wooden case with engraved wrapper, having the name—Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), prepared only by Leach Chemical Co., Cincinnati, O.—plainly printed thereon.

The cheaper oils and those sold in bulk only create nausea and have no effect whatever upon the bronchial tubes.

PETS FOR LITTLE PARISIANS.

All Kinds of Animals as Playmates for the Children.

Children play a great role in French society, as all those who have read Gyp's inimitable "Titi Bob" will readily admit, and now the small Parisienne insists on receiving on her fête day and at the New Year a live pet, instead of a costly doll or a mechanical toy. The demand has been creating a supply, and a lively trade is being done, not only in puppies and kittens, in tiny monkeys and in lambs, but also in tigers and leopards. Up to a certain age, these small felines are quite harmless, and, of course, as soon as they begin, so to speak, to show their teeth and sharpen their claws they are sent off to one of the two magnificent "Zoos" with which the Gay City is provided.

TWO SISTERS HAD ECZEMA.

Cuticura Cured Scalp Troubles of Two Illinois Girls—Another Sister Took Cuticura Pills.

"I must give much praise to all the Cuticura Remedies. I used but one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment, as that was all that was required to cure my disease. I was very much troubled with eczema of the head, and a friend of mine told me to use the Cuticura Remedies, which I did, and am glad to say that they cured my eczema entirely. Since then we have always kept the soap on hand at all times. My sister was also cured of eczema of the head by using the Cuticura Remedies. Another sister has used Cuticura Resolvent and Pills and thinks they are a splendid tonic. I cannot say exactly how long I suffered, but I think about six months. Miss Edith Hamner, R. F. D. Has Clinch on Position.

Various authorities have passed on a letter received at the post office department a short time ago and it has finally been sent to the postmaster general. The letter came from a western postmaster at a small office and read: "In accordance with the rules of the department, I write you to inform you that on next Saturday I will close the post office for one day, as I am going on a bear hunt. I am not asking your permission to close up and you can discharge me if you want to. But I will advise you now that I am the only man in the county who can read and write." It is not likely that the postmaster will be discharged.

Invigorate the Digestion.

To invigorate the digestion and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels there is nothing so good as that old family remedy, Brandreth Pills, which has been in use for over a century. They cleanse the blood and impart new vigor to the body. One or two every night for a week will usually be all that is required. For Constipation or Dyspepsia, one or two taken every night will afford great relief.

Brandreth's Pills are the same fine laxative tonic pill your grandparents used and being purely vegetable are adapted to every system.

Sold in every drug and medicine store, either plain or sugar-coated.

Marriage at a Discount.

All the conditions of modern life are such as to discourage men and women from marrying, and if they do so to make them discontented. Divorce has rushed from the extreme of being considered a disgrace which never should be mentioned to that of being regarded as a standard joke in the comic papers, a fit subject to be worked up in stage comedy and hilariously received by large audiences.—N. Y. Independent.

It Will Stay There.

"In my family medicine chest no remedy is permitted to remain unless it proves beyond a doubt the best to be obtained for its particular purpose."

"For treating all manner of skin troubles, such as Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, etc., Hunt's Cure has held its place for many years. I have failed to find a surer remedy. It cures itching instantly."

R. M. SWANN, Franklin, La.

Sweet Amenities.

"I hope you won't be disappointed, dear, for I know everybody thought George was paying attention to you. But as a matter of fact, he asked me last night to marry him."

"He has then carried out his threat, poor fellow?"

"What threat?"

"He declared to me the last time I refused him that he would take some desperate step."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a running ear, or, if the inflammation is not so severe, you have a feeling of fullness in the ear, and when it is entirely closed, you have perfect deafness, and when it is entirely closed, you have perfect deafness, and when it is entirely closed, you have perfect deafness.

We will give you Hunt's Deafness Cure for any case of Deafness if you will send us the name of the doctor who has treated you for Deafness, and we will send you a bottle of Hunt's Deafness Cure for free.

Sold by Druggists. Take Hunt's Family Pills for constipation.

Revolt Against Trading Stamps.

"No more trading stamps," is the slogan of a campaign which English grocers are carrying on. One of them, whose shop is in East London, says: "There is not a small grocer in England who earns 15 per cent on his capital. Ten per cent is average profit and the cost of trading stamps leaves him only about 6 1/2 per cent."

a more potent remedy in the roots and herbs of the field than was ever produced from drugs.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers few drugs were used in medicines and Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., in her study of roots and herbs and their power over disease discovered and gave to the women of the world a remedy for their peculiar ills more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

is an honest, tried and true remedy of unquestionable therapeutic value. During its record of more than thirty years, its long list of actual cures of those serious ills peculiar to women, entitles Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to the respect and confidence of every fair minded person and every thinking woman.

When women are troubled with irregular or painful functions, weakness, displacement, ulceration or inflammation, backache, flatulency, general debility, indigestion or nervous prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

No other remedy in the country has such a record of cures of female ills, and thousands of women residing in every part of the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it has done for them.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. For twenty-five years she has been advising sick women free of charge. HEALTH AND SPIRITS

Are Restored by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in Cases of Debility and Despondency.

General debility is caused by mental or physical overwork with imperfect assimilation of nourishment, or by some acute disease from which the vital forces have been prostrated and the entire organism weakened so as not to easily rally. To restore health it is necessary that the blood should be purified and made new.

The case of Mrs. E. M. Spears, of 92 Mt. Pleasant street, Athol, Mass., is a common one and is given here in order that others may be benefited by her experience. She says: "I had been sick for a year from indigestion and general debility brought on by overwork and worry. I had tried many remedies, but found no relief. I suffered from swelling of the limbs, loss of appetite and dizzy spells, which became so severe towards night, that I sometimes fainted away. I was bilious and my hands and arms would go to sleep for an hour or two at a time. I was so sleepy all the time that I could hardly keep awake. I had frequent cramps in my limbs and severe pains at the base of my head and in my back. My blood was impoverished. I was afraid to give up and go to bed fearing that I would never get well."

"About this time Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended to me by a friend in South Vernon, Vt. I felt better soon after beginning the treatment and continued until I was entirely cured. I consider Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a grand medicine for weak women."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.
